

Visions & Views: The Troll Party – Introduction – Part 1

The screenshot shows a video player interface. On the left, there is a vertical banner with a cartoon troll character holding a staff and a small red number '1'. Above the banner, it says 'THE TROLL PARTY WITH ITS GNOTEAMS'. Below the banner, it says 'Visions & Views Part: 1a0-10oct2026 © boteam.se'. The main video area shows a landscape with a large tree and a small troll character. Overlaid on the video is the text: 'Visions & Views: Troll Stories chapter 2 the 'Troll Party' part 1 INTRODUCTION Welcome! Politics can be said to be a game, and on this Troll Party site, very much so. Here the game of Chess brings a new kind of meaning, a fairytale 'magical' understanding of realities as is today. I myself 'Li Sam', the troll 'Doo', and gnome 'Bo', will tell you the story as it happens, both in Speech and Text, just click the Audio bar, or the PDF button below to start. Each chapter parts here presents on X first off. And, the 'Path Beyond' story leading to this troll story, is now available on my 'Visions & Views' site in speech.

At the bottom of the video player, there is a 'NOTE' button, a progress bar showing '00:00', a 'PDF' button, and a play button.

Welcome to this Visions and Views 'and' Troll Party story site!
It all starts here.

Politics can be said to be a game of some kind, and on this Troll Party site, very much so. Here the game of Chess brings a new meaning, a kind of fairytale and 'Magical' kind of understanding of realities as we experience them today.

I myself 'Li Sam' ... the troll 'Doo' ... and gnome 'Bo' ... will tell this story as things happens along the way, and will do so in both Speech and Text. Just click the Audio bar, or the PDF button below, to start.

Please note! That each of this new chapters part pages, will 'first off' be presented on X when available, ... which you then can comment on if you like.

And, ... the 'Path Beyond' story leading up to this 'Troll Party' story, is now available on my 'Visions & Views' site in speech. Click the 'Visions & Views' text here to go there.

Even so: With this 'Introduction' I start off with a small recap, which sort of ended that previous 'A Path Beyond' story, and then led up to how this 'Troll Party' story came to be.

Furthermore: ... If you find a 'Note' button available, you can click It, and it will tell more about that chapter part and guide you further.

So, and to continue with the introduction, click the next page arrow (at bottom right) to view the 'recap' story images.

Visions & Views: The Troll Party – Introduction – Part 1

So, and this is where Doo 'The Mountain Troll' lives, and this is how it looks like when I visit. From that cliff wall to the left, Doo have a good view on what's going on, like looking out from a ground to top wide open window, ... and from there, then of course, he can check me out too.

It's a good place to be when there's no people around, when it's just Doo and me. We have fun together and sometimes we play chess while Doo is telling me small fairytale stories as part of the game. Doo very much like to hear about all my naïve ideas and when he laugh his cliff like rumble.

It feels like a relief to visit him, like far away from all worldly things and this Swedish last election, which I wrote about as a 'Final Election' story here on X, about how we Swedish people vote. That still concerns me a bit, even though the result of that election was very much expected, Total Chaos I would say. Doo saw this in me (as he sees everything), and in his kind gentle manner he asked about it to sort of help getting it out of my chest. Not so much my mind, but my heart instead, which Doo meant was much more important.

And so I started to tell Doo about it, democracy and how we people vote, and what else parties to vote for when there are none. All the parties and politicians are the same regardless if left or right, or whatever, I told him. Doo sort of agreed on that with a deep murmur.

"But what about a 'Troll Party'!" I suddenly came up with as an idea.

Doo, however, didn't laugh this time. Instead he looked back at me seriously.

Visions & Views: The Troll Party – Introduction – Part 1

“I can see what you mean, but people no longer vote for Trolls you know. But I also can see the deeper meaning of what you want to get out of this, which needs to be considered with care. I know what you’re up to, and let’s say we give it a thought for a while. Both you and I need to feel where this path, this story of yours’, is leading, right?” Doo answered looking me straight in the eyes.

I knew that Doo was right of course, and agreed.

After a short silence with Doo closing his eyes like listening for a while (well, about half an hour or so), he slowly started to wake up again. During that time I really tried to do what Doo had told me, to search the feel for where this path, my ‘Troll Party’ story, was leading.

The funny thing was that I couldn’t feel the path leading anywhere, which puzzled me a bit. There were no dead-ends or such either. It felt like standing on an open field with no directions or orientation at all.

When I saw Doo wake up from his kind of ‘Troll Meditation’, I had to asked him about that.

Doo kindly looked back at me and in return asked me if there was a way back from that open field I hadn’t thought about, like standing there looking ahead.

“You know, I saw you standing there not looking back. You looked around all right, but not back,” Doo told me, which made me wonder if I had missed something.

Visions & Views: The Troll Party – Introduction – Part 1

“You see. A way back is not always as it seems. If you regret something, is there a way back?” Doo tried to explain by asking, which made me wonder even more.

“You are never alone you see. If you didn’t regret anything out there on that open field, your ‘Bo-team’ friends would like to come along you know. If not, they usually provide you with ‘a kind of way back’. And if you feel and can see that pathway back, you should take it,” Doo explained to me.

Now I got really curious, “What ‘Bo-team’?” I had to ask.

“BOO!” I suddenly heard from behind me, which made Doo smile widely when I in surprise turned around.

“This is Bo, your soulmate and ‘Bo-team’ leader,” Doo presented me a kind of troll gnome with big blue eyes, happily looking at me from behind. “If Bo wants to follow, ‘then’ you are ready to go. Bo is your secret life companion, following and sharing your life, you see,” Doo explained.

“But, but, ... why is she called Bo?” I felt needing to ask.

“That’s because ‘Boo’ is the only word she speaks. Like ‘Booing’ to make you either scared or happy. Like, if you are on your way to do something stupid bad, she ‘BOO’ you scared. If you feel alone, sick, or so, she ‘Boo’ you happy.

She is all children’s fantasy friend throughout their lives you know. But even so, ‘Very Much Real’, but in secret then of course. So! If Bo wants’ to come along on this your ‘Troll Party’ journey, I’m all for it,” Doo said invitingly bowing at me, promising to come along too. And with Bo ‘Booing’ at me, that was settled.

I felt happy starting a new chapter of this my ‘sort of’ life story, which I will tell you about as it unfolds like from day to day here on.

Visions & Views: The Troll Party – Introduction – Part 1

So, and this is what my next chapter in life will start off with.

The Mountain Troll ‘Doo’ found it educational for me to give this ‘Troll Party Idea’ a try, and ‘Bo’, my soul companion, was happy to come along. For sure I didn’t know what to expect, but with Doo as my mentor and Bo as my support, what could possibly go wrong?

Okay, to bring an ancient troll (from even before mankind) and my fantasy soul companion into reality as is today, I had no idea about, ... but in this chapter of my life story, why not? I for sure knew that they both would manage well without me and equally knew that I would be lost without them. They were kind of part of me somehow and it felt like safe to have them around. Not just in this chapter, but whatever happens in life, you know.

I’m old you know and my time is sort of running out. But as Doo has told me “That doesn’t matter you know. We and Nature will always be there for you. You don’t have to vote right or anything, that soul of yours, that live spirit you are and will be till the end, will remain in Bo, ... who then will guide you to a next newborn soulmate, taking part in hers or his life, and then, ... all upcoming adventures too, of course,” Doo explained.

So, whatever life is with all its happenings along the way, I felt safe.

But now, back to reality, (fairytale reality that is).

Doo told me that this about human politics very much resembles a game of chess. But then how, I thought? Doo explained that in all simplicity we need to start off with a clean chessboard in order to find out about the chessmen, who they were and what was on stake here?

Visions & Views: The Troll Party – Introduction – Part 1

I for sure knew that confrontation was no solution to what I had in mind, which Doo had taught me didn't go well with Nature. So, 'NATURE' is what this Troll Party must rely on I felt very sure of. ... but what about God then (whatever religion)? ... but, didn't God (whoever) show up at the same time as mankind? Nature for sure had been there from the very beginning, starting billions of years before mankind, which Doo and Bo were very aware of, and now me too.

So, this 'Troll Party' will rely on 'Nature Rules' and thus: 'Reality as is', ... 'as Reality behaves', ... and 'as Reality function!' ... and with that settled, I felt ready to take a next big step in my life.

And as I did the surrounding got huge, and me tiny. Bo stood there beside me (same size as I was) checking me out. "Hmm," I thought. "Am I supposed to go into that dark hole or what?" ... which Bo like in secret booed at me to do.

Whatever I thought, if I'm going to do this I better do it from bottom ground level and up, which Bo once again booed at me, to sort of showing me the way.

As I did, I felt Doo sort of showing me around. It was pitch dark but Doo allowed me to see through his eyes. There was life down here below the ground surface, a lot of it, and beyond my imagination, too.

Visions & Views: The Troll Party – Introduction – Part 1

Doo explained that all the roots down here which carried and covered the tunnel ceiling, its walls, and floor, like a network of some kind, was everything that life above relied on.

“We are all surrounded by them you know. Nothing and nobody can be alive without them. All down here is how all life started. All these roots and creatures are life at its origin, and very much Nature as its origin too,” Doo told me.

I felt amazed, and instantly knew that Doo was right.

“You know: This life, ... roots, ... fungus, ... and all these tiniest creatures living down here, is all we others are too. They complement us and life as such. You will find their alike at bottoms of puddles, streams, seas, and deep down in oceans, too. They are ‘us’ and all that Nature and life is built upon. Even in reality ‘your time’, humankind can’t survive without them,” Doo explained, which made me quite concerned.

“But isn’t that what our Troll Party should protect then, like a Constitution of some kind. I mean, what can be more worth protecting and taking care of?” I suddenly came up with as a thing to start off with. “BOO!” Bo happily responded to that, and Doo, with the broadest smile I ever seen, agreed too.

And with that settled I felt ready to move on taking another big step into the unknown and further down into that tunnel, which both Doo and Bo ‘happily booed at me’ inviting me too.

The End, ... of this part of the story.